It is difficult for me to understand why the Federal Government would single out Microsoft for this type of legal action. Those of us in the real world sincerely appreciate the opportunity afforded us by the wonderful products produced by this company.

It appears that you are attempting to hold Microsoft back to allow those other companies to catch up or even overtake them.

Where do you think this country would be if it were not for the software development done by Microsoft?

I can't understand why you would want to penalize a company for succeeding.

Please listen to the common man for a change and leave this company alone.
